Choosing an event photographer:

So you will know what to expect from a top rate business or corporate photographer, let me tell you how we covered a large conference involving 100's of delegates, their families, at several locations throughout London.

As the official Clefs d'Or London Conference photographers, we took these while no-one was looking....

Ask the dog why we take great event photos.....

If the dog could talk, it would tell you that the real star of this photograph is the building in the background, setting the scene in London.

We think that capturing the atmosphere of a location for visiting clients and colleagues at your corporate event, is important.

So we get up close and personal (even with zombies).....

.... and then when no-one is looking, we take fantastic photographs.

If you are entertaining clients or colleagues, there may be only one opportunity to capture those moments.

The most important advice of all ?

Don't ask your clients at a corporate event to say "cheese" !

My team of event photographers have more than 20 years experience between us.

We take great photos. And we're fun to have around.
